Dysart sets '81 budget

Residential mill rates to rise 11.84 percent, commercial rates will go up 15.87 percent

by LEN PIZZEY
Echo Editor

Residential Taxpayers in Dysart et al will see an increase of 11.84 per cent in their taxes this year, while commercial taxpayers will contribute 15.87 per cent more than in 1980.

Mill rates were set Monday after council adopted its 1981 budget.

Municipal expenditures for the current year will total $1,763,052, of which $434,858 will come from direct local property taxation. Balance of the funding will come from provincial subsidies and other revenue.

Dysart's portion of the county levy has been set at $224,665.63, while the board of education's levy to Dysart taxpayers totals $1,035,122.

The total commercial mill rate for 1981 is 415.24, which includes 106.55 mills for municipal expenditures, 55.05 mills for the county levy, and 253.64 mills for education.

(A mill equals one-tenth of a cent per dollar of assessment, or one dollar for each $1000 of assessment).

Residential rates for 1981 total 352.95, of which 90.57 mills are for municipal purposes, 46.80 mills for the county levy and 215.58 mills for education purposes.

The percentage increase in the commercial and residential rates for municipal purposes is identical, at 10.41 per cent.

Commercial taxpayers' contribution to the county budget is up 26.84 per cent in 1981 while the education levy for commercial properties is up 16.10 per cent.

Residential ratepayers will see their contribution to the county budget rise by 26.83 per cent this year, while the education portion of taxes is up 9.63 per cent for residential property owners.

The municipal budget contains the usual increases based on inflationary pressure, but anticipates no significant spending increases for new programs.

The only change of note in the 1981 budget is the allocation of $50,000 to working funds. Council made the move to provide a cushion and reduce the need for borrowing if estimated revenues based on the application of the 1981 mill rates to present assessment are reduced as a result of assessment appeals currently underway.

Spending in the general government category has been set at $319,000, up from $278,925 in 1980. Included is the $50,000 figure for the working fund, and increases in salaries and benefits for clerical staff. Remuneration to councillors remains unchanged from 1980.

Spending under protection to persons and property is also up slightly, to $83,500, primarily because of wage increases.

Road expenditures will increase about eight per cent, to $731,000. Of the total, $548,500 will come from the province in the form of subsidies.

Environmental spending remains essentially unchanged at $125,000.

Spending in the health category, which is subject to a provincial subsidy of $101,000 has been set at $106,000.

Spending for social and family benefits is also unchanged at $90,000.

Recreation and cultural spending will account for $234,052 in 1981, primarily for Head Lake Park.

Planning and development costs are expected to be up slightly, to $20,000 from $16,002 in 1980.

Ratepayers who want more information on the budget can obtain it from the municipal office in Haliburton

Chamber to help move local mail

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce will be aiding local businesses by playing post office unti lthe postal strike ends.

Although the Chamber cannot deliver mail outside the area, it can help businesses to circulate their mail to the local communities. Since mail is not moving between Minden and Haliburton, people in Haliburton wishing to send mail to Minden can drop it off at the Manpower Outreach Centre above the Haliburton Red and White. This mail will be posted in Minden the next day. Likewise, residents in the Minden area can have their mail delivered to Haliburton by leaving it at the Chamber office.

As well, the Chamber travels to Cardiff, Dorset and Wilberforce once a week so deliveries can also be made to those communities.

The Chamber requests that proper postage be affixed to any mail left at these offices.

Public asked for input into recreation

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

After a month of organizing recreational activities in Haliburton village, Karen Thomson feels the programs are progressing but says more public input is still needed.

"Sometimes I feel like I'm lacking a lot of input," Thomson, recreation coordinator, said Tuesday.

While the children's programs, including playground, swimming and soccer, are successful, turnout is usually low at adult activities, she said. Thomson feels some lack of participation may be blamed on the busy summer season and she hopes activities now being planned for the fall will be better attended.

At the first night of the fitness club last week, Thomson said she was pleased to have 10 adults attend but was surprised they didn't realize what type of facilities were available at the high school.

"As far as reaching the community's potential, we're a long way off," she said. But since there were very few organized activities before this summer, Thomson said she feels the programs are progressing well.

Through her column in The Echo, Thomson has tried to keep area residents aware of the programs available but she would appreciate more public response, she said.

Although most people think of sports activities when they think of recreation Thomson said she would like to see other groups like craft clubs or photography clubs organize activities in the community.

"There's lots of other things you can do," Thomson said. However, the problem once again is discovering exactly what the community is interested in and what kind of activities residents would attend.

"For anything that you organize, you get the same group, but it's the others who can benefit the most from the programs," she said.

Thomson encourages anyone with an activity idea, to contact her and maybe it could be organized to attract different members of the community.

"You can't just organize activities for the athletically inclined," she noted.

Before the end of the summer, she hopes to have a report prepared that may define the direction the community should be looking towards to make full use of the facilities in the area.

"There are a lot of problems, but I'm basically happy with it," she said.

Camp Dialysun serves special need

Young kidney patients from across Canada arrive for two week stay

by LEN PIZZEY
Echo Editor

For forty-six youngsters from across Ontario, the summer of 1981 has special significance. Over a two-week period they'll share in the excitement of summer camp, swimming, canoeing, sailing and meeting new friends.

New home base established for national program

Chantal Chartrand gets her blood cleansed

But they'll never be more than a few hundred feet away from the machinery and the medical care without which many of them could not survive.

The youngsters, all victims of kidney disease, are attending Illahee Northwoods camp under a program dubbed Camp Dialysun, sponsored by the Kidney Foundation of Canada.

A permanent dialysis clinic has been constructed at the camp, and during the two-week period that the young kidney patients are attending, the clinic will be staffed by doctors, nurses and technicians from Toronto's Sick Children's Hospital and other hospitals across Canada.

The Kidney Foundation has operated Camp Dialysun for the past two years at a site in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia, but the fact that it has now linked up with Illahee Northwoods on Drag Lake represents the fulfillment of a dream for foundation officials.

John Sweeney, executive director of the Ontario Branch of the Foundation, said Camp Illahee, sponsored by the Family Service Association of Metropolitan Toronto, was chosen as a base for Camp Dialysun because of Illahee's "long standing association with kids with medical problems".

The cost is high

"The idea of bringing it here is that we could create a long-term base from which the project could continue to grow," Sweeney said in an interview Saturday, the day after the clinic was officially opened.

The dialysis unit was built at a cost of $50,000, according to Sweeney. It houses six dialysis machines, three donated by Gulf Canada and loaned to various hospitals when the camp is not operating, and three on loan from Sick Children's Hospital. Storage and treatment rooms round out the Camp Dialysun facilities.

While only one session of the camp will be held this year, the foundation hopes the program can be expanded to four weeks in the future, allowing up to 90 youngsters to attend in two session.

Funding remains a question mark, however, Sweeney said, because specialized care and drugs push the cost per child to close to $2000 for a two-week session.

The Ontario health ministry has recognized the camp as a satellite of Sick Children's Hospital however, and will subsidize some of the cost for Ontario youngsters. The Foundation hopes health

Canoe swamps, area man drowns despite rescue bid

A 26-year-old Minden Township man drowned last Wednesday when waves swamped his canoe.

Jose Anthony Diaz was canoeing on Drag Lake near a cottage where he had been staying when the incident occurred at about 7:30 p.m. Diaz began swimming toward shore after the canoe swamped, but he went under about 16 metres from safety, according to police.

A companion, Peter J. Wilson of RR2, Haliburton, began diving for Diaz, aided by a neighbouring cottager, John W. Klink of Scarbor-

Huge crowd attends Stanhope airshow, thrills to displays of aerobatic flying

The biggest crowd in the history of the Stanhope air show turned out Sunday to witness some spectacular performances by men and machines.

Despite skies that threatened rain, the ninety minute show went like clockwork, drawing gasps and applause from a crowd that numbered more than 1000.

All eyes turned southward at approximately 1:30 p.m. as the sleek silhouette of a T-33 jet trainer from Canadian Forces Base North Bay appeared over the treetops. The aircraft performed both slow and high speed maneuvers in several passes, concluding with a maximum power vertical climbout.

Next up was Bob Stevens of Peterborough with his radio controlled model aircraft. Stevens had little trouble showing the crowd why he has won the national aerobatic championship and has finished eleventh in world competition.

The largest aircraft at the show was the Canadian Forces 'Buffalo', a twin turboprop cargo plane capable of landing and taking off from almost anywhere. With more than 6000 horsepower to spin its four-bladed propellers and huge flaps to increase slow speed lift, the Buffalo could get off the ground after a takeoff roll of only a few hundred feet. But it was the plane's almost unbelievable landing characteristics that proved most impressive. Plunging down in a sharp turn and diving at the field at an angle of close to 30 degrees, the Buffalo looked like it would crash. But at the last second the pilot pulled the nose up and the aircraft touched down smoothly. Once on the ground, propeller pitch was reversed, stirring up a storm of dust, and the plane rolled to a stop in something like 300 feet.

In marked contrast to the awesome power and size of the 'Buffalo', Nick Daniel's Champion Citabria appeared almost flimsy as it taxied out in front of the crowd. But once in the air, the Citabria, a two-place production aircraft designed for weekend pilots, proved to be anything but docile.

Al Hauff performs

Despite the fact that the fuel and lubrication systems of its 150 horsepower engine had not been modified for inverted flight, Daniel wrung the aircraft through loops, snap rolls, turns and even slow rolls in which the engine, starved of fuel, coughed and sputtered before roaring back to life as the aircraft rolled back around the horizontal axis to level flight.

Next on the program was Bob Stevens, who demonstrated that a radio controlled aircraft can perform as well as a full sized plane in the hands of a skilled pilot. And at speeds of up to 110 miles an hour, Stevens' bright red plane, valued at about

Dysart agrees with stand on arrears

Province asked to toughen laws against those who don't pay taxes

Dysart et al council has concurred with a resolution from the United Townships of Bangor, Wicklow and McClure calling on the provincial government to change regulations governing the seizure and sale of land for unpaid property taxes.

Under Sections 543 and 555 of The Municipal Act, property can be seized and sold to recover taxes when they have not been paid for at least three years. In practice that means a person can remain two years behind with their property taxes without fear of losing their land.

But the councillors of Bangor, Wicklow and McClure believe the regulations aren't tough enough. They want the province to allow seizure and sale for two years of arrears. And they want the regulations to state that all back taxes must be paid in order to stave off seizure once the two-year period has elapsed.

Dysart reeve Murray Fearrey agreed with the resolution, noting that toughening the rules could reduce the burden on taxpayers who pay their taxes each year.

If municipalities must borrow to meet expenditures because some property taxes remain unpaid, the burden of interest rates is carried by local taxpayers. Council agreed the present regulations provide too big a loop hole for people who choose not to keep up with annual property taxes.

Council's endorsation of the resolution will be forwarded to Queen's Park.

Briefly...

OPP kept busy

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following activity for the period of July 6 - 12:

A total of 11 reportable motor vehicle accidents occurred, injuring two people. There were also six non-reportable accidents.

Some 141 general occurrences were investigated including 16 liquor offences, six impaired drivers charged, seven noise complaints, four boating charges, two assaults and two domestic disputes. As well there were 12 thefts, eight damage occurrences and three break and enters.

One drowning was also investigated.

Men injured in rollover

A Scarborough man is in Lindsay Hospital in stable condition after his car rolled over on a curve north of Kinmount early Sunday morning.

Ricardo Orlando Pereira, 20, was travelling on Highway 121 when he lost control of his car on a curve and it rolled end over end several times. Pereira was thrown from the vehicle and suffered internal injuries. His passenger, Geoff Martin, 21, also of Scarborough, was seated belted inside the car, and received only minor injuries.

Damage to the car, a 1973 Toyota, was estimated at $4000.

Impaired driving charge laid

A Scarborough man was charged with impaired driving after the vehicle he was driving left Highway 121 and crashed into a rock cut early Sunday morning.

Police say two carloads of youths had been driving south on Highway 121 toward Kinmount when the driver of the lead vehicle noticed in his rear view mirror that the second vehicle, driven by Ricardo Pereira, had rolled over.

The driver of the first vehicle returned to the scene, assisted the victims and accompanied them to Minden hospital in the ambulance. Passenger in the lead vehicle, Thomas Owen Thornber, 21, of Scarborough, then took the undamaged vehicle and headed toward Minden. After travelling less than five miles, Thornber left the road and crashed into a rock cut.

He was charged with impaired driving.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $700.

Truck rolls over

A Toronto man was charged with impaired driving after his pickup truck rolled over early Sunday morning at the intersection of Highway 121 and South Kashagawigamog Road at Ingoldsby.

Jaan Liikane, 23, escaped injury.

His truck was totally destroyed.

Thefts investigated

Minden OPP officers were kept busy over the past week investigating a rash of thefts. Flags and outboard motors were particular targets.

Stolen were: a bench from Blairhampton Golf Course valued at $150; a planter from Highway 35 at Ox Narrows worth $15; two gas tanks from Gull Lake valued at $75; a spare tire from a car on the Bethel Church Road worth $50; a flag from Maple Lake worth $25; flags from Highway 530 in Maple Lake valued at $80; a flag valued at $60 from the Stanhope Township municipal office; gasoline from Gooderham worth $10; three outboard motors, one from Mountain Lake worth $385, one from Dorset valued at $1000, and a third from Horseshoe Lake worth $150; and an outboard motor cowling valued at $50 from Horseshoe Lake.

Banner to come down

The Sky Slider banner hanging across Haliburton's main street will have to come down, Dysart et al council has decided.

At a meeting Monday, council passed a resolution stating that the banner has to be removed until a formal request for permission to rehang it is made to council.

Council has jurisdiction over the roadway and the space above it under a connecting link agreement with the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Plaque planned

The Ontario Heritage Foundation wants to give Dysart et al council a plaque pointing out the foundation's contribution to the Rails' End Gallery project. In return, council would have to erect a cairn to hold the plaque and schedule an official dedication ceremony.

Council decided to meet with a representative of the Foundation on July 29 to discuss the matter further.

Civic Holiday set

The August 1 Civic Holiday will be deferred until September 21, Dysart et al council decided at a meeting Monday.

The holiday is normally put off until September to allow local businesses to capitalize on the tourist influx.

Minden to get new by-law

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has accepted a proposal to rewrite its restricted area by-law 14-67.

The by-law, drafted in 1967 and controlling all development in the municipality, has created problems for council and developers in the past few years because it has become outdated.

At its regular meeting last Wednesday, council accepted the proposal of $12,500 from The Proctor and Redfern Group. Council met with consultants from Proctor and Redfern, Totten, Sims and Hubicki, and Municipal Planning Consultants in a closed-door session earlier in the day. Although clerk Elinor Burke said the Proctor and Redfern quotation was the middle price received, council did not make the other quotations public.

Council is hoping it can sign a contract with Proctor and Redfern Group at its next meeting on July 22. The consultants have estimated the new by-law will be ready to be presented to the Ontario Municipal Board in four months. If the wheels of government turn in their usual manner, council expects the by-law will be in force in time for next year's building season.

ministers in other provinces will follow Ontario's lead.

While the youngsters attending Camp Dialysun have a variety of kidney related problems, all have one thing in common, according to medical director Dr. Brian Steele, a nephrologist at Sick Children's Hospital.

"All have lost their kidney function, so that all of them require artificial kidney treatment".

Twenty of the youngsters must undergo haemodialysis at least three times a week. Eighteen others have had kidney transplants and must be carefully monitored, since they take potent anti-rejection drugs. Seven others are being treated with a relatively new technique known as continuous ambulatory peritoneal dialysis, while one youngster is on medication for ailing kidneys.

Transplantation is "the treatment of choice" in cases of total kidney failure, according to Dr. Steele, but many patients must wait months or years for an appropriate donor kidney to be found.

For those patients, artificial cleansing of the blood, whether by machine or CAPD in which fluid flows in and out of the abdominal cavity through an implanted plastic tube, is essential for life.

While dialysis and CAPD can sustain life indefinitely, they pose particular problems for children. Not only is haemodialysis painful, since large bore needles must be inserted into surgically enlarged veins, or 'fistulas', but the hours it requires three times a week restrict youngsters' opportunities to live a normal social life. CAPD is less restrictive, but it demands constant attention, and makes participation in traditional childhood activities difficult or impossible.

As well, Dr. Steele says, youngsters with kidney failure seldom, if ever, feel completely healthy. They tend to be weaker than other children, and their growth is frequently affected.

Young kidney patients "tend to be different children", Dr. Steele says. "They tend to be very comfortable with medical personnel".

"But in school, they feel inadequate. They feel that older kids think they are different".

As a result, Dr. Steele says most young kidney patients "have a very poor self-image".

Camp Dialysun is intended to help change that. Because the youngsters will mingle with others from across Canada who have had similar experiences facing similar problems, they may be able to learn from each other.

And the fact that 18 of the youngsters have had transplants is expected to give hope to those who are undergoing mechanical dialysis and CAPD.

The Kidney Foundation is making a film of this year's camp for use in its fund-raising campaign. In the future, if all goes according to plan, Camp Dialysun will continue to provide youngsters with an opportunity if not to forget their disease, at least to find a little more strength to live with it.

$1000, was hard to distinguish from a full sized plane once it was in the air.

A Hughes 500 helicopter was again on hand at this year's show, and again it proved a favourite with the crowd. The $485,000 aircraft is more maneuverable than just about any other helicopter in production, and it almost danced through the air, climbing, spinning and turning to the music of 'Star Wars'.

Loops, tail slides had stomachs fluttering

Rounding out the show was Al Hauff in his tiny home-built Pitts special. Hauff flung the biplane through a series of stomach wrenching stunts, including tail slides, loops, rolls, hammerhead turns and two Lomcovaks (Czech for 'headache') in which the aircraft literally tumbles through the air out of control.

Also included in the day's activities was the traditional beef barbecue which helped defray expenses for the show.

Organizers say planning for next year's show will get underway in the next few weeks in an effort to make the 1982 version bigger and better.

Reducing arrears

For the most part the endless stream of resolutions that pour forth from councils around the province calling for changes in this or that provincial law, are ignored. And for the most part they deserve to be. But occasionally a resolution surfaces that makes eminent good sense.

One of the latter kind was considered by Dysart et al council at a meeting Monday. Initiated by the United Townships of Bangor, Wicklow and McClure, the resolution calls on the province to amend regulations in the Municipal Act governing the seizure and sale of property for tax arrears.

Under present law, property can only be seized and sold if taxes have not been paid for at least three years. To avoid seizure, a property owner need only pay the first year's arrears. Aside from interest penalties, municipalities currently have no means of dealing with people who choose to keep their taxes two years in arrears.

The Bangor, Wicklow and McClure resolution says municipalities should have the right to seize properties if taxes are not paid for two years, and that all arrears must be paid to avoid seizure.

The proposed change makes sense, and would no doubt be supported by all those people who pay their taxes regularly. Councils borrow to meet costs if taxes remain uncollected, and those who do pay are penalized year after year because they must meet a portion of the interest costs on those loans.

Dysart council supported the resolution, and most councils in the province will no doubt do so as well. What remains to be seen is whether or not the province will act on the suggestion, as it clearly should.

Ideas needed

Anyone who has paid attention to the political affairs of Dysart et al council over the past few years will know that the issue of a recreation director has frequently figured in election campaigns. Those for and against the idea lined up, and a good deal of verbal energy was expended to argue both positions. Then, earlier this year, the recreation committee decided the time was right to hire someone to organize local recreation programs, and council agreed to foot the bill.

While it may be too early to say with certainty that the decision was a sound one, it is clear from the response to children's programs set up this summer, that a need is being fulfilled. But the long term success of the program will depend on adult participation, and so far, it has not been seen to the extent that the committee and council might have hoped. Programs are operating, but comparitively few people are turning out to take part in them.

The reason may be simply that summer is a busy time, and that people have little time left over to begin new activities. Or it may be that the activities that have been planned do not have broad enough appeal.

In either case, people who want to see the recreation program continue to expand should make their feelings known to the recreation coordinator or to a member of the recreation committee.

Public input is the only means the committee and council have of judging whether the return is worth the cost. Unless the public speaks up, the program may end up being scrapped.

Good show

Relatively few people have the money or the time to learn to fly an airplane, but just about everyone, it seems, can appreciate the skills involved. Maybe that's why armchair pilots are just about as common as armchair quarterbacks. Both get vicarious thrills out of watching someone else do something that is both difficult and dangerous. And Sunday's air show, sponsored by the Stanhope airport committee, had plenty to please even the most demanding seeker of second-hand excitement.

While the show was not as long as in past years, it wasn't short of variety. From the shriek of a jet fighter to the thunder of piston engines, the air show provided constant stimulus to both eyes and ears.

The committee deserves a pat on the back for its efforts. The air show is one of the highlights of the summer, and it should continue to get bigger and better.

Visit to camp evokes mixed feelings

Editor's Notebook

by LEN PIZZEY

In a quiet corner of Haliburton County, away from the noise and confusion of summer streets and overcrowded lakes, a group of dedicated people are helping youngsters with serious illness to experience the fun of summer camp. From nine provinces, children with kidney disease have come to Camp Dialysun at Illahee Northwoods on Drag Lake. A special clinic has been constructed to meet their needs. It houses six dialysis machines - artificial kidneys without which many of the youngsters could not survive.

A visitor to Camp Dialysun confronts scenes that evoke mixed feelings.

The setting is beautiful, perhaps among the most pleasant places in the whole county. Illahee is scattered over a densely wooded hillside that slopes down to an unspoiled bay. The dark green cabins blend into the trees so that from a distance, you have to look closely to separate buildings from forest. Sailboats swing at anchor in the clear, clean water.

In most respects, Illahee in early July looks like any other summer camp in the county - busy, organized, at times a little raucous.

It is only when you walk up the steps and through the door of a pine-sided building that sits off by itself a couple of hundred feet from the cabins and dining hall, that you realize Illahee is different. Inside, you're confronted with the cold realities of disease and suffering.

Forty-six of the campers who have come to Illahee for Camp Dialysun need constant medical supervision.

Twenty of them must undergo haemodialysis for several hours at a stretch at least three times a week. Needles take blood from a surgically enlarged vein, a tube carries it to a filtering device, and another tube returns it to the youngster's body.

Another seven are being kept alive by a technique in which fluid that goes in and out of the abdomen four times a day through a clear plastic tube implanted in the abdominal wall filters out blood impurities.

Eighteen of the children at Camp Dialysun are relatively lucky. They have had kidney transplants and are living close to normal lives, altered only by the need for ongoing medical supervision and powerful anti-rejection drugs.

All of them will have a chance, during their two weeks at Drag Lake to enjoy experiences their disease has largely denied them in the past.

Camp Dialysun fills you with amazement not only at the courage of the youngsters and the skills of the people who are looking after them, but also at the technology that is keeping them alive.

And an afternoon at Camp Dialysun also makes you appreciate what it means to be healthy.

Rural mailboxes have a story to tell

Serendipity

by SUE COOPER

A mail box has, more often than not, been the center of attention in our lives. It's sort of a testament of the way you live.

Take our mailbox, for example. First of all, it sits all alone at the end of our road, just waiting for any attention it can attract. It is a very traditional blue and white box with our names printed in neatly drawn Old English lettering. The post is cedar with a nice coat of white paint to compliment the strip on the box.

For quite some time, this quaint little box has held a very important position in our lives. It could command us to stop, by simply raising its little red flag or it could impart twinges of guilt for all those unwritten letters, at a glance.

I think the mailbox has also nurtured a special relationship with the mailman. He doesn't seem to mind when the little red flag is left up for no reason or if there's just yesterday's mail sitting there, still unread. But the blue and white box looks after it all. And we have confidence in it. It only leaks slightly when it rains and it has never let vandals smash it to pieces.

But I'm sure mail boxes are not just special to me. Driving along any rural road, mail boxes can be seen describing the lives of the tenants. I like the type of mail boxes that are mounted on old plows from years past. These people either have strong rural ties or had the fortune of picking up the plow at a cheap antique auction.

Then, there are the type of people who have a little white box, rounded on the top, with a basket of flowers cheering up the post. These people must love their mail box very much to surround it with flowers all day long.

Then there are the strange mail box owners who don't take it with them when they leave. They leave

Feir Play

by Creighton Feir

The Feir household has been without television now going onto three weeks. As far as I am concerned I can do without this idiot box indefinitely as I am far from ever becoming hooked on television. I must admit that it's nice to have it there for certain programmes that interest me but I just couldn't watch it as a steady diet. My wife and children miss it most when there is a good movie on the tube. The set broke down, as I say, about three weeks ago and we are waiting for it to be repaired but in the meantime there is no TV in the Feir household. In one respect it's really nice to be able once again to sit around and talk instead of everyone in the room becoming silent with all eyes glued hour after hour, on the TV picture. I sometimes think how nice it was before television arrived and one has to wonder just what people had to do to put in the time. Yes, our family has found out that you can exist without TV in your living room.

Congratulations are in order for the following members of the Rotary Club of Haliburton who received their perfect attendance awards at the club's year-end meeting held at Wig-A-Mog Inn recently.

It's all aboard for Wilberforce this coming weekend for the annual Good Times Country weekend. It will be held this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 17, 18 and 19. The weekend will feature plenty of good entertainment with fun for both young and old with a midway, concession booths, beauty contest, dances at the arena, ladies softball tournament, flea market, bake sale and bazaar, monster parade, amateur contest, pancake breakfast, arts and crafts show and you name it and it will be at the Good Times Country weekend. We could go on and on telling you about the many other events that will be waiting for you in Wilberforce this coming weekend. Plan now to take along the entire family for plenty of fun and frolic. You won't want to miss it.

A special meeting of the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen will take place when the group meets for their monthly communion and breakfast at St. Andrew's Anglican Church, West Guilford this Sunday, July 19 at 8 a.m. Topic "Practising with the Brotherhood".

Congatulations to Mr. Gordon Monk the new president of the Bay of Quinte Funeral Directors Association.

Rick Van, an ex-convict and night club entertainer, will be the guest speaker when the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship hold their monthly dinner meeting at the Canadian Legion Hall, Haliburton on Friday, July 17 at 7:00 p.m. This is your opportunity to hear the story of a man who was born in pre-war Holland, parentage unknown, who had the hand of God upon him from birth. How in the search for fulfillment of his life, he ignored God's call and fell into crime and the glamour of the entertainment world. God has given Rick a very special ministry in music and has made him a very capable composer and writer of his own songs.

The phones are finally in at Drag Lake and the other lakes in that area. The first phone was put in at Spruce Lake on Tuesday, July 7 at the home of Mr. Frank Tattersal. The first call to be made at the Tattersal home came at 2:10 p.m. when Wayne Roberts put in a call for Frank. To have this phone service is certainly a blessing to all those who live in that area.

I read a short article in Milt Dunnell's sports column in the Toronto Star on June 6 stating that apparently there are many persons in Ontario who have attended Kilcoo camp near Minden over the past 50 years. Efforts are being made to inform them of the anniversary celebration, which will be held in Toronto, November 7. John Latimer is the man to contact at Kilcoo Camp, Minden, or 160 Eglinton Avenue East, Toronto.

Ginger Kulas has announced that she is opening a new business to be known as Ginger's Haircutting Shop at Lutterworth Pines, three miles south of Minden. There will be an open house next Tuesday, July 21 from 1 to 6 p.m. Free coffee and donuts.

Just recently we touched on the subject of household garbage being placed in the Ministry of Transportation and Communications litter barrels as well as those put out for your use by the various municipalities in Haliburton County. May we remind local citizens, visitors and cottagers that these barrels are for use of litter only. Household garbage is meant to be taken to the local dumps. Please keep this in mind.

The day of the bear getting the name of being a little bit shy if they aren't disturbed may be over. Mr. Bear seems to be getting a little more of the brave side to the extent they are coming right into the village of Haliburton. Just recently Mrs. Garey the village of Haliburton. Just recently Mrs. Gary Bailey who resides at Haliburton on Harmony Road was out jogging when she noticed a bear jogging along with her. Last week another bear wandered into town and ambled through Cec Winters' yard and then on down and ran up a tree behind Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Roberton's home and later on walked up through and behind the Lakeview Centre into the woods. We also had a report that a bear was spotted on the front lawn of Les Roberts' home on the Donald Road.

Congatulations to Walter Taylor who is a summer resident at Twelve Mile Lake for coming up with a perfect cribbage hand in a game played recently with his wife. He came up with 3 - 5's, Jack of Spades dealt and 5 of spades turned up. He had 40 points in one hand and 16 points in the crib. Mr. Taylor who resides at Unionville is 87 years of age.

VIEWPOINT

Pic of the Past

Thanks to Mrs. V. Chalmers of Burnt River, Ontario for submitting this most interesting photo showing what the main street in Haliburton looked like in the year 1920. You can't help but notice the tall building in the picture which was known as the Lucas Hotel at that time. Stedman's new modern store is now situated in this location. In recent issues we have been mentioning the many changes that have been made in the village over the last few years and especially the past two years when a great many changes have been seen and progress has been the main topic of the day. You must admit that it's certainly a far cry from this picture taken in 1920.

Long range planning already underway

From the Chamber

by BOB STINSON

This week the Chamber board is meeting with some of the top marketing people from the Ministry of Industry and Tourism to investigate ways and means of developing a long range marketing plan. Long range is certainly descriptive since what is now being planned will come into effect in the spring of 1983 for that year's business. Next year's promotional activities have already been set and will follow the same format as this year's successful program with a separate area directory and brochure and accommodation guides.

Looking ahead the Chamber will have to deal with some drastically changing tourism patterns due to the many factors effecting it. This all-day session with the experts from Queen's Park is designed to help clear up some of the concerns we have about those plans and in addition build a better network of communication between ourselves and the people that prepare the government programs.

Mail Strike Assistance

During this unfortunate interruption in mail service we are fortunate here in the Highlands that our post office personnel are still working even though they are not receiving mail from outside their area. Rural route delivery has been reduced to about once a week at present and mail may be picked up during regular post office hours.

The Chamber is in a position to help keep the mail moving within the county. Anyone in Minden with mail for Haliburton, may drop it into the Chamber office and we will mail it for you in Haliburton the following day. Anyone in Haliburton with mail for Minden may bring it to the Manpower Outreach Office above the Red and White store and we will mail it in Minden the following day. If you have mail for Dorset, Cardiff or Wilberforce we are in those areas at least once a week and will drop mail off at those post offices also if you wish.

Mail cannot be given to us by the post office for transfer once you have mailed it, but if you give it to us with sufficient postage on it we will be pleased to mail it for you at the appropriate post office.

Transferring Funds

Resort operators in particular are concerned about how to have potential guests submit their deposits during the strike, and there are many other reasons why it may be very important to transfer funds. You may do this quite readily through your bank who in turn have their own efficient courier service.

Have your customer go to a branch of the same bank you deal with preferably, in their own area, and make the arrangements with a senior teller. They can arrange a telegraphic transfer, or send a draft or money order through the name of the bank and the branch that you are dealing with along with your business name and addresss.

Businesses using credit cards such as Visa and Master Charge may also take deposits over the phone by simply asking for the customer's account number.

We hope these suggestions are of some assistance to the many businesses we know are experiencing difficulty due to the strike.

Publications

The Federal Business Development Bank has produced two new brochures outlining their counselling assistance to small enterprises (CASE) program which are available from their local offices or by writing to the Ontario Regional Office, 204 Richmond Street West, 5th floor, Toronto, M5V 1V6. Telephone 593-1143.

The Ministry of Supply and Services has published a new handbook entitled "The Government of Canada and the Small Business". The booklet covers such topics as getting started, personnel problems, how to get information and expansion in terms of government programs operated to assist in these areas. Copies are available from Publications Canada, P.O. Box 1986, Station B, Ottawa, K1P 6G6.

Coming Events Footnote

In addition to our coming events this month that were included in last week's column we have just been advised of Haliburton Hockey Haven's open house on July 25. The Hockey Haven is located on Koshlong Lake and has provided a high calibre of sports instruction to boys for many years. They now also have a girls division called Quanahar which provides instruction in the fast growing sport of Ringette.

We provided a detailed list of what's happening at the Country Good Times in Wilberforce in the last column and only neglected to tell you about one small point -- the date! Sorry about that. It's all happening this week-end, July 17, 18 and 19 and if you are planning on entering the amateur talent contest please contact Donna Herbert at 448-2991 or 448-2981 right away in order to register in advance.

the poor lonely box at the end of the driveway, not caring that their names will soon fade away and someone else's will take their place.

But the funniest mail box owners of all time are the any-weather boxes. These mail boxes are usually made of sturdy material and you can tell their owners must be ready for any situation. The box is attached to a long seesaw-like pole with a piece of rope attached underneath the box. When the mailman arrives, he just pulls on the rope and the box comes down to level. These type of mail boxes last forever, they are never smashed by the snow plow, they are rarely beaten by vandals and they make sure the mailman gets his daily exercise.

But, alas, as they say all good things must come to an end and the time has come for mail boxes. With yet another postal strike plaguing the country, the country mail box has an unfulfilled life.

Across the country they can be seen standing dejectedly at the end of the laneway with their red flags waving, just hoping someone will stop.

The Dysart Planning Board will hold a public meeting in the Council Chambers of the Municipality of Dysart et al, Haliburton, Ontario on Monday, July 27 at 7:00 p.m. to review Amendment No. 9 to the Official Plan of the Dysart Planning Area.

The purpose of Amendment No. 9 is to update the Official Plan through the addition and revision of policies which will more closely reflect the experience of the recent past and the expectations of the future for the Dysart Planning Area.

From the continuing review process, it is evident that there are no fundamental problems with the plan and that the plan's basic assumptions are still generally sound. Therefore, the Amendment deals mainly with the "fine-tuning" of the policies and the schedule. Some reorganization of the text has also been undertaken to facilitate its use as a reference document.

Hustlers capture consolation title in Harcourt tournament

by NEIL BURK

The Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers travelled to Harcourt last week-end to take in the ninth annual fastball tournament and came away with the consolation championship.

On Friday night they lost a close contest to Tweed 3 - 2. Tweed got on the scoreboard in the second inning only to have the locals tie it in the third on a home run by Dwight Sisson. Tweed again took the lead in the fourth inning as they picked up two runs. Minden got one run back in the fifth but were held off the scoreboard for the rest of the game. Tweed eventually won the "A" championship.

In the second game Saturday, the Hustlers soundly defeated the Bancroft I.G.A. team 9 - 2. Jack Snell was the winning pitcher with Dave Dollo hitting a home run.

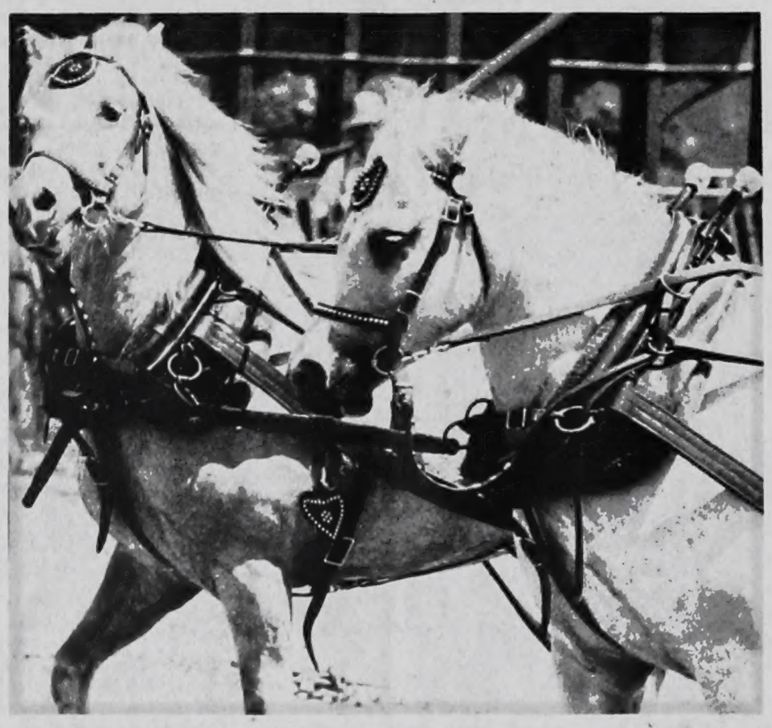
The third game on Sunday saw the Hustlers make their way into the finals by trouncing the team from Fenelon Falls 6 - 0. Gene Newell and Dwight Sisson hit home runs and Snell was the winning pitcher.

The final game against Bancroft Pharmacy on Sunday night was a very close game which found the two teams tied 2 - 2 after the second inning. The game remained this way until the fifth inning when the Hustlers picked up what proved to be the winning run on a bunt by Brian Shaw who reached third on a throwing error and scored on an infield out.

Jack Snell was again the winning pitcher.

Action from last week found the Rockcliffe team squeezing past the Lindsay Juveniles 4 - 3 to run their record to 10 - 4. It was a close contest throughout with the winning run coming in the sixth inning on a home run by Bernie Nicholls. Snell took the win while Sharman was the losing pitcher.

Games this week: Wednesday, July 15 - Lindsay Juniors at Minden; Thursday, July 16 - Minden at Woodville.



This palomino pony team, owned by Glen Parks of Bancroft, won second place in the light pony competition at the Norland firefighters horse draw, Saturday. For complete results see page seven.

Lumbermen take two, Legion beats builders

Haliburton lumbermen edged up the scoring ladder this week as the team took two wins. Monday, the lumbermen ousted the second-place Curry motormen with a scoring spree in the sixth inning.

Although the motormen were leading 5 - 0 as the teams went into the bottom of the sixth inning, the lumbermen made seven runs to take the match.

In the first inning, the motormen's Art Dawson cashed in on a walk to first base as two single hits brought him home.

Although a few hits were made, the motormen didn't capitalize on one until the fifth inning when Mark Schell hit a single. He came across the plate with the help of singles from Mike Carpenter and Roy Scott.

In the top of the sixth, Ron Perrin was safe at first and a triple by Art Dawson made the run count. John Wilson smashed a homer, bringing Dawson in, too.

Trailing by five runs, the lumbermen pulled their skills together and beat seven trails around the base line. Kevin Newell was the first lumberman to get to base and a single by Derrell Stamp helped. Kevin Sisson made it to the bag on an error by the short stop. Dave Nicholls was put out on a sacrifice play and Dwayne Lewis walked to first. Norm Barry connected with the ball with two runs coming over the plate. Craig Wood was the next lumberman on base and a single by Dwight Sisson marked up another point. In his second round at bat, Newell hit a double, bringing three more runs in.

Although the motormen took another turn at bat, three quick outs ended the game.

The lumbermen snagged the win, 7 - 5.

The winning pitcher was Dwight Sisson.

In their second game of the week, the lumbermen surpassed Kennedy's squad in a 5 - 4 victory.

Kennedy's team took the lead early in the game as the players brought in three runs in the bottom of the first inning. Dave Nicholls took the base-on-balls, Brian Mulholland was hit by a pitch and a double from Barry Shaw edged the pair across the plate. Shaw came home on a single from Lee Bull.

Both teams were eliminated after three batters in the second inning, but the lumbermen broke onto the scoreboard with four runs in a the top of the third inning. Ted Vasey was in command on the lumberman mound in the bottom of the fourth inning with three Kennedy team mates swinging wildly.

With Kennedy's team only one run behind, the lumbermen were playing tight but an error by the short stop in the bottom of the seventh left Kennedy's team open to score. Gary Burtch scored the winning run.

But the lumbermen weren't ready to say goodbye to victory as Derrell Stamp put himself safely on first base. A single by Kevin Sisson and a sacrifice by Vasey brought Stamp across the plate for the winning run.

Vasey won the match with Shaw pitching for Kennedy's squad.

LaRue's motormen headed up to the plate under the new title of Beachli Construction and the men gave the top-placed Legion a tough battle until the legionnaires took control in the sixth inning.

Bernie Nicholls led the legionnaires with a single, followed by a single from Paul Wilson. But a quick play by the right fielder ended his attempt to go home. The legionnaires took one run in the match.

Andy Salvatori put the builders in the mood as he hit a homer.

Eric Martin was safe on base and Greg Bishop walked to first. A double by John Robinson brought both runners in.

Bob Nichol hit a triple and came home to bring the legionnaires' score to two runs. The builders fell by the wayside as the Legion's pitcher, Wade Stamp only allowed six hits (no runs) in the next five innings.

In the top of the fifth inning, Jim Scheffee walked to first for the legionnaires and a single by Paul Morissette brought him home.

With the score now tied, Mike Rae walked to first and a single by Bernie Nicholls set the legionnaires up. A single by Wade Stamp allowed the runners to come home.

Stamp was the winning pitcher and Salvatori took the loss.

At the end of the week's play, the legionnaires were in first position with nine wins and one loss; Curry's motormen were second with six wins and four losses; Haliburton lumbermen were third with four wins and six losses and the Kennedy squad were edged out with four wins and seven losses; Beachli's builders are in fifth position with two wins and seven losses.

New recreation programs planned

by Karen Thomson
Dysart et al Recreaton Coordinator

Next week marks the end of children's soccer and swimming lessons will be moving to West Guilford. So we have some new programs planned for August.

Supervised playground will continue under a slightly revised schedule. We will be in the same places each day as we are now, but the time slot will be shortened. Beginning July 27, playground will begin at 9:30 and end at 12 noon instead of 12:30.

Children's Tennis Lessons will be offered for boys and girls aged 8 - 15 years old. Balls will be supplied, but each student must supply a racquet. Classes will be on Tuesday mornings, 9:00 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. from July 28 to August 18. If more than 12 students register, we will have a second group on Tuesday afternoons from 1:00 to 2:30 p.m. Students interested in learning basic tennis skills should fill in the registration form on this page and drop it off with a $1 registration fee at the municipal office. Forms will also be collected by Margie and I at playground and soccer sessions.

Basic Orienteering will be our second new August program. Children will be involved in projects, activities and games that will make map reading fun. At this basic level, we will be working with maps only, not compasses.

Classes will be on Monday afternoons, 1:30 to 3:00 from August 10 to August 31. Our first meeting will be at the Dysart Library beside the Municipal Office. To register, follow the same instructions as for the tennis program.

We also have programs for adults in August. The equipment for Shuffleboard and Horseshoes is available to anyone who asks. A key to the storage box can be signed out from the Tourist Information Caboose. If you are interested in some instruction for either game, call me at 457-1791.

The Haliburton Fitness Club is meeting two evenings per week at the high school for jogging, weighlifting and track and field. The present schedule is Sunday and Thursday evenings from 7 - 8:30 p.m. We may have to switch the Sunday meeting to another evening, so watch for notices.

Our Senior Soccer League is still looking for new players. Anyone who comes out to the high school field on Sunday or Wednesday evenings is more than welcome to join. The action gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

Soccer players want match

By Jim Milne

Soccer enthusiasts continue to meet at the high school field every Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30. The oldest person yet to play is Geoff Wynne who admits to being around 50. A couple of boys who play in a league in Hamilton came out last Sunday.

Anyone who would like to put together a team to provide some competition would be welcomed. The team also hopes to contact soccer leagues in neighbouring counties. For information call Jim Milne at 457-1848.

West Guilford in top position

Final score was 19 - 15 for Wilberforce.

T-ball sponsoring fun night to raise money for league

by Ruth Lewis

In spite of the many evenings of baseball which have been rained out this season, the children's baseball programme has continued to thrive.

On Wednesday nights at the Senior Elementary School at least six games are taking place at the same time, while the older group plays at the ball park in town. Many businesses and organizations have donated the sweaters to the players. The youngest T-ball players now look and feel almost professional in their brightly coloured shirts.

Bell Canada has contributed $100 to help defray equipment costs.

The $2 registration fee has helped to defray the cost of balls, bats, batting helmets and masks this year but was still inadequate to cover all costs. Organizers have decided to hold a fun night in the ball park, Wednesday, August 12, to help raise enough money to have advance funds for the 1982 season. Many events will be featured. A T-ball game will be the star attraction for interested observers; the players being four years to six years old. Money-making ventures will include a dunk tank, sponge throw, fish pond, white elephant sale, and bake sale.

Community centre fees amended

At the June meeting of the Glamorgan Township recreation and community centre committee the following matters were considered:

The secretary made the members aware of the provisions of By-law 77-1 for the Township of Glamorgan as it relates to voting on motions.

Voucher 81-5 was approved for payment in the amount of $164.86.

The proposed operating procedures and rental fees for the community centre were amended by adding township office phone number for contract; adding a clause requiring application to rent be on proper form, and deleting "sports groups" from Item 4 of fee structure.

The committee confirmed the hiring of the following persons for the Experience '81 program: Marilyn Riel, supervisor and day camp counsellor; Melanie Dewey, day camp counsellor, and Cammie Hillis as the research person.

Horses pull their own weight

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

The sun was sweltering and the dust hung in the air after every draw but the teamsters from around central Ontario had their teams ready and the spectators had their cowboy hats on, at the Norland firefighter's horse draw, Saturday.

In classes from light ponies to heavy horses, the teamsters tried to coax their teams through the heavy draws.

In the light pony class placing second, and finishing first in the heavy pony competition, Glen Parks of Bancroft knows it takes a long time to develop a prize-winning team.

After his second-place draw, Parks walked his Palamino ponies back to their trailer. Almost identical in colour, Rocky and Randy have a slightly different tint in the early summer months, Parks said.

Proud of his team's performance, but almost apologetically, he says they might have pulled more if they'd been worked within the last three weeks. Because of obligations, Parks explains he had to take the hay off his farm near Bancroft instead of working the ponies before their competition.

"I normally don't do that. I wish you'd seen them at their last draw where they pulled 4,750 pounds," Parks said, petting one of the ponies.

The pair vary between 650 and 675 pounds each but Parks said ponies are extremely strong for their size.

"They will draw three times their weight," Parks said.

The team is the product of a Welch pony and a grade mare. After buying the pair at three years old last year, Parks began to break them. He entered his team in 14 draws last year, but doesn't think he'll be able to attend as many this year.

But winning the draw doesn't seem to be the most important thing to Parks; the ponies, his hobby, seem to take priority.

Although Parks works with heavy horses too, he doesn't draw with them. But he feels they're not as skittish as ponies usually are. "They're a little more nervous," Parks said of the ponies.

But as he loaded his ponies into their trailer, he commented on how calm this team is compared to others he has worked with.

"I think that team has the best disposition," Parks said.

In the light pony class, Larry Greer of Norland won first place in the nine-team competition. Glen Parks made the second-best pull and was also named best teamster. Bob Parks of Bancroft, was third.

The heavy pony team managed to draw 5,050

Teachers' show at gallery portrays superb modern art

by LEOPOLDINA DOBRZENSKY

The teachers' show, now at the Rails' End Gallery until the end of the month, is a must for anyone interested in modern art. It is not a secret that the Haliburton School of Fine Arts attracts outstanding instructors. The many unusual and striking examples of their work now displayed at the gallery only confirms this fact. Many of the items cannot be adequately described. The originality and superb craftsmanship of the pieces must be seen to be really appreciated!

Carole McLean wins first for "Apple Blossom"

Apple blossom, a delicate Japanese figurine which won first prize in the juried show and 'mother love' a group of ceramic elephants are the creations of Carole McLean, a local artist, who teaches pottery for children at the school. Unfortunately for our community, the McLeans will be moving out west very soon. The contribution Carole has made to the development of arts and crafts in the Highlands is substantial and she will be greatly missed by her many friends and pupils.

Carole was born in Whitby and lived in the Oshawa-Bowmanville area after her marriage. Tired of the rat race; the McLeans decided to move to a small town and go into business for themselves. After six months of fruitless search, they decided to visit a town called Haliburton, where Carole's husband had played in a bonspiel several years ago. They like what they saw, bought a marina and settled here.

In the second year after the move Carole discovered the Guild of Fine Arts. She feels that this was the turning point in her life, as it opened up the door to her yet undiscovered talents and gave her the opportunity to learn, to grow as a human being and over the years, to fulfill herself as an artist. At first, Carole became interested in weaving and joined a course. At the Guild's Christmas sale she bought some pots for the macrame planters she had made, but decided they were too beautiful to be used for plants only. Deciding it would be fun to make her own pots, she joined a 10-week potting class under the direction of Pat Irwin, who was an excellent teacher. After two weeks Carol had made all the pots she wanted and was now looking for some inspiration for the eight weeks left in the course. Playing around with clay, she copied classics from the pages of the National Geographic with the idea of eventually creating her own, distinctive pieces. Her teacher and fellow potters encouraged her to enter some of her pieces in the Guild's summer show. The first pieces did not meet her high standards and she feels that without the help and constant encouragement of her fellow potters, she might not have continued.

The McLeans had been warmly accepted by the community and Haliburton had become their true home. They feel, even now, that it will always be home to their hearts, no matter where they will reside. The rustic pieces which Carole now created had a distinct flavour of the Highlands. When asked to sell her pieces in Toronto, she refused, saying that whoever wants to buy, can come to Haliburton to do so, thereby encouraging local artisans.

Carole was allowed to use the School of Fine Arts facilities in order to produce trophies for the curling club's bonspiels. Soon the demand became so great that the production was hard to control. Last year, the artist became interested in making animals at a suggestion of a customer who wanted an elephant for her husband's collection.

Because of the help, the encouragement and the companionship of fellow Guild members, as well as the happiness Carole derives from her art, she felt the urge to write about the Guild and this is how the Guild News column came into being. For three years her byline appeared in the Echo, always informative and enthusiastic. The Guild is for people like you and me, not an exclusive club, that is the message she tried to convey. Her story seems to illustrate that point very well.

Discovering the Guild was a turning point

The week's activities began with fun and fitness and crafts on Monday. In the evening it was our pleasure to welcome Rev. Roy Hirons to our home. He told us of his life as a missionary in Nigeria. He became a Christian at the age of 16 and went to Nigeria in 1944. Rev. Hirons showed some slides and told several stories with the moral that sin will always find you out. Our residents enjoyed the pictures and stories and would like to thank Rev. Hirons for sharing them with them.

Archie Stouffer, educator, dies at 86

Archie Stouffer, a man who contributed much to bettering education in Haliburton County, died last Wednesday at Parkview Hospital in Stouffville.

Born in Stouffville in 1895, the late Archie Stouffer was raised on a farm until he began his teaching career at Dixon Hill Elementary School now part of the Black Creek Pioneer Village near Toronto. In 1922, he returned to Stouffville to become prinicipal of the secondary school.

In 1928, he moved to Weston to become part of the teaching staff at Weston Collegiate. In 1939, Stouffer moved his family to Minden to take a position as public school inspector.

His duties covered Haliburton County, part of the north of Hastings and Victoria Counties and a section of the district of Muskoka.

Stouffer held the inspector's position until he retired in 1958 and became the secretary-treasurer for the Haliburton County District High School Board. He acted in that capacity until 1964.

During his years in the area, Stouffer organized an annual school music festival which was held on the lawn of his home in Minden, every spring.

"He was a wonderful teacher, a very superior teacher," Haliburton County director of Education, Douglas Hodgson, said Tuesday.

While he was inspecting the schools, Stouffer would often teach the class to show teachers improved ways of teaching.

"I saw what a wonderful teacher he was," Hodgson remembered.

During those inspections, Hodgson said, Archie Stouffer would make beginning teachers feel proud of their profession and he would inspire them to do their best.

"Most of us who were connected with the school system benefitted from his knowledge and his comments," Hodgson said.

Area schools did not forget Archie Stouffer when he retired. Anson, Hindon and Minden school board renamed the public school after him. The school was renamed "in recognition of the wonderful service he had given to Haliburton County," Hodgson said.

The late Archie Stouffer was a charter member of both the Haliburton and Minden Rotary Clubs, a member of the Gideon Bible Society, was involved in the Red Cross Society, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB) and the Tuberculosis Society as well as being an active member of the Minden United Church. He also enjoyed curling in the area.

A scholarship is presented in his name to graduating students at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School each year.

In 1969 he moved to Pembroke and then returned to his home town in 1978. He enjoyed good health and remained active until February.

Surviving are his wife, Candace Eby, children, Katharine of Vancouver, Elgin of Hall's Lake, Mary of Pembroke and John of Haliburton, 12 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Services were held at the Stouffville Missionary Church, Saturday, with interment in Stouffville Cemetery.

Gail Tunall wins contest, spends week in Alberta

A Haliburton girl was one of two young Canadians to win a one-week conservation experience in Alberta, sponsored by Ducks Unlimited.

Gayle Tunall, 14, won the week's excursion along with nine youngsters from Canada, United States and Mexico. Known as the "Great Greenwing Adventure" the program gives young conservationists from North America an opportunity to work with wildlife experts. The children are involved in Canadian geese banding, observing water fowl in their natural habitat and tour the Ducks Unlimited projects in the Brooks-Strathmore area.

Greenwings, members of Ducks Unlimited between the ages of 14 and 18, competed for a place on the tour by entering the third annual essay contest. This year's topic was "How one person can make a positive impact on waterfowl conservation".

Ducks Unlimited is an international, non-profit conservation organization dedicated to increasing North America's waterfowl resources by preserving, restoring and creating prime wetland breeding habitat in Canada.

Happy Gang try to develop their singing

In the choir practice Monday morning, it was nice to welcome Jan Shipley, pianist and Melissa Stevens, vocalist, in doing what they can to develop whatever talent, the elderly members of the Happy Gang have retained in vocal music. How much happier they will be when they discover their voice is pretty good afterall.

The muskmelons are in blossom, all male yet. A lone morning glory flower emerged and by custom folded again by mid-afternoon. From now on, we should have plenty and climbing the trellises we made especially for them. There is a lone bachelor button out full and maybe a dozen healthy buds around it. The white alyssum is the color guard, being most conspicious and like its mauve colored cousin, very pretty. Not very many Happy Gangers can help in horticulture, so any effort we do get is precious. This has led to the permanent closing of three "beds" this year and if it is still necessary to carry the water in a watering can to water plants, floral displays next year will be very scant. This word to the wise may we hope help. This year despite our woes, everything is pretty nice.

Happy Gang

by WATSON ANDERSON M.D., [ret.]

Tuesday we spent much of the day giving the extendicare lawn that is in front of the east wing a "haircut" while it was getting mown. You all know how a real hay grows where the verge abuts a wall, which when examined is simply a mass of roots that are better removed as garden debris and composted under. At the same time the compost hole when dug must be sifted if one-quarter of the soil are stones and pebbles like it is here. These are also prized and used to help form a rampart against a cave-in down one of our precipitous banks. It is incredible to study the effect of winter on the stones we put there last year as though a specially skilled stone mason had taken those stones in hand under the snow to build a most neat ridge so compact that a hammer and chisel is required to remove one pebble. It seems the whole area soil becomes a colosal colloid that nature reshapes under the snow with the help of the expansion force of frost. One must see it to believe.

We had a little time out to play bingo to find that our helpers found the weather too muggy to come so we had to help ourselves with Ivy's help. It is slower than usual but just as final.

The seenery of our walks along Park Street is very nice with all the lawns along the way so nicely groomed and the properties kept so tidy. It made us remember when we were the deedee and after we were through pushing the rotary mower around and had finished tidying, then surveyed it, we felt better. Each of the deedees along Park Street have done such a magnificent job that we can so enjoy it. Anyone who has a deed, according to the rules of English, is a deedee.

The admonition "to keep a civil tongue in one's head" is rarely heard any more, not like it used to be. Laws were enacted then to that end, but now it is not enforced. We can look with price to our media that use the best as well as the market place, education, law, medicine, engineering, travel and a score of others, but for some reason

Youngsters attending bible study

Kinmount Korner
by MILLIE MOSS

Sympathy is extended at this time to Nora Crego and family in the death this past week of a dear mother in her 100th year.

Some of our friends still on the sick list at home or in hospital are Phylis LeCraw, Mary Phillips, Maizie Brohm, Pearl Cowen, Charlie Cross and Tom Bacon. I'm sure a card or a visit would give a little cheer when it's most needed. How about it?

For a week recently, a good number of local youngsters attended a bible class every day from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and enjoyed it very much.

Thursday, July 9 saw the Kinmount Orioles ladies softball team, down the Burnt River ladies in a score of 30 to 7.

There were twelve mixed teams of lob ball played at Ward Park in Norland recently, when the Kinmount team won over all. Congratulations!

Euchre results at St. Patrick's Hall, Tuesday, July 7 were ladies' high: Flo Schlosser, ladies' low: Clara Watson, men's high: Reg Williams, men's low: Aileen Brown and most lone hands: Eva Peacock.

Happy birthday to Clara Watson, Mary Gillis, Flo Schlosser, Jim Simpson, Norm Bamford who will celebrate his in Greece or Italy and to Mamie Campbell of Miami, Florida and to all of you "July babies".

Recent visitors with Nora Crego in Kinmount were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crego.

Steven Fountain of Oshawa and a grandson to Clara and Ambrose Watson of RR1, Kinmount will be flying down to N.B., N.S. and P.E.I. on an extended holiday, Saturday, July 11. Tell us all about it when you come back, Steven.

I hear the bus trip to Parkwood House on the McLaughlin Estate in Oshawa and the Cullen Gardens at Whitby was quite a success. Even though the day was one of the hottest and some of the adventurers were quite tired, the day was enjoyed thoroughly. I'm told there's a complete replica village even to the amusement park with tiny rides of all sorts that actually move at the Whitby Cullen Gardens and Clara Watson for one said she'd like

Children use self-expression and natural creativity in art

by CATHERINE MILLER

Children's Art

Creating something called art involves self-expression, even for a very young child. Helping a child to apply his natural creativity means teaching him to say what he wants to say in terms in which he wants to say it. Sometimes creating art may involve a catharsis, or release of unexpressed emotions for children so that what they draw shows what is bothering them. Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children maintains a collection of art created by their young patients which includes the work of a little girls whose parents had been killed in the same accident that left her in the hospital. The little girl never spoke of any memories of the accident, however, during the hospital's daily recreation periods she painted a number of pictures of a black car that almost filled each piece of paper. She would only use black paint and the hospital staff respected her choice. Eventually the child talked about what her paintings meant to her, which brought out her memories of the accident and she abandoned the creation of black cars. Under normal circumstances as well, children will express things that are bothering them; little Mary helped alleviate her fear of large animals by drawing one.

The need to be self-expressive is one reason adults should avoid suggesting a child interrupt his scribbling to represent symbols, such as "draw an apple". This tends to interfere with the child's discovery that there's a relationship between his arm movement and the marks on the paper.

Take advantage of any opportunity to ask a child what he would like to draw. Children choose themes for their drawings that are related to things that are currently important to them or recent experiences such as a trip to the zoo, a kite they saw flying or a squirrel they saw in the backyard. If a child asks you what he should draw, tell him you would like to see something that makes him happy.

Make the child more sensitive to things he wants to express. When 4-year-old Mary asked her mom to draw a picture for her, her mother drew a picture while consulting Mary: "How do you feel when you pick flowers? How does your arm reach? What kind of flowers do you like?"

Criticizing children's art. It is a temptation to suggest corrections in children's art in order to make the drawings more accurate in two areas: proportions and realism. Children draw things in proportion to how they feel about them rather than how they see them. They use their emotions more than their eyes. The figures that is most important to the child will be the one that is the largest so that the dog is twice the size of the house, you might, if he asks, try to make the child more sensitive to size relations by asking "Do you think this dog could go into the house?".

As adults we tend too often to look for realism in children's art so we wonder why the child draws four wheels on a car, side by side in a row. Perhaps he has learned the rule that cars have four wheels so he thought he'd better give his car four wheels. It had nothing to do with what a real car looks like to him.

In praising a child's drawings, try to determine how he feels about his art. Was he pleased with it? What does he like about it? The theme may be an indication of something particularly important to the child, maybe he wants to talk about it. The need for praise varies with each child. Try to be specific about what you like about his drawings (the three different colours he used, his concentration, his first attempts to draw). Whenever possible, focus your praise on the process of creating the art more than the end product. Talk to him while he is drawing the picture.

New post office hours in Coboconk since the strike has slowed service

All because inside postal workers want more money, we never get mail anymore. The local post office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except it will be closed for noon, 11:45 a.m. - 1:15 p.m. Post office will be closed on Saturday. Above hours are in effect until further notice. Isn't it a sad situation when postal workers can strike when they already receive far more money per hour than a lot of truck drivers I know, who are working for $5.00 or $6.00 an hour. The truck drivers have to qualify for a higher licence than an ordinary car driver. Anyone can sort mail if they can read - like most kids of 11 - 14 years old can read!

The mass for local Roman Catholic Church is as follows for the summer until Labour Day: Kirkfield - Saturday evening, 7 p.m., Sunday 9 a.m.; Victoria Road - Sunday, 11:30 a.m.; Coboconk - Saturday night, 7 p.m., Sunday, 9:30 a.m.; Woodville - Sunday, 11 a.m.

On Monday evening the L.O.B.A. of #1162 Coboconk met at the home of Rotha and Roy Bryant, Norland, to celebrate the lodges 33 year anniversary, also lodge member Mrs. Bertha Palmer of Burnt River who had celebrated her 85th birthday on July 3. Also members, Rotha and her husband Roy were celebrating their 42nd wedding anniversary and member Marion Newman and husband Roy were celebrating 41 years of wedded bliss. The members and husbands of three members sat down to a delicious meal of turkey, ham, rolls, juice, a dozen different salads, strawberry shortcake and anniversary cake. Congratulations to those who celebrated their special occasion.

I was sorry to hear that Ray Hall of Sunset View on Shadow Lake is not well and is in Princess Margaret Hospital. Also, remember Phyliss LeCraw in your prayers as she is still a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital.

Our sympathy to Faye Hobbs of Crystal Lake whose husband Ray passed away last week.

Although it was a hot day for travelling, I enjoyed my trip to Muskoka Riverside Inn at Bracebridge on Monday. I was a passenger of Diane Vickery of Cardiff who did the driving.

Mrs. Ross Fisher of Lindsay, Mrs. Ada Irwin, Mrs. Violet Budkin and Verna, all of Lindsay, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ross Faulkner and Mrs. A. Marles on Thursday.

Rotha and Roy Bryant of Norland, have just gotten back from a glorious trip to the eastern provinces, including Newfoundland. They met folks from Bobcaygeon and other areas who were also enjoying our great Canadian outdoors and cities.

Mrs. Evelyn Warrers of Philadelphia, Pa. and Mrs. Marjorie Fountain of Norland visited Mrs. Mary Limrick, last week. Mrs. Warren has been visiting Mrs. Fountain at her Norland home.

Frank Graham has returned to Vancouver, B.C. after a visit with several friends and relatives here including Laurie Barkwell's, the Dean Leary's at Moore's Falls, and a brother, Garnet Graham, at Fenelon Falls. While here, he was presented with his fifty year pin as a Masonic Lodge member having been a member of the local Masonic Lodge for all those years.

Our librarian Chris Kerr, is a fortunate lady, as she was in a bad accident on Hwy. 48 at the Bloomington sideroad a week ago. Her car was badly damaged and she has a lot of bruises but is lucky to be alive.

Friends and relatives of the late Alma Rutter (Mrs. Norman Rutter) will be sorry to hear she passed away at Highland Crest Manor at Minden on July 10. She lived here many years ago and later in Lindsay.

Mr. Lloyd Faulkner and Mr. Laurence Davis of Belleville visited Mr. and Mrs. Ross Faulkner last week.

Irene recommends home-made dressing

I went to a birthday party on Sunday for a six-year-old. They say that when we view the world through a child's eyes, each day brings some new surprise. Sunday I viewed things through the eyes of a number of six, seven and eight-year-olds and there are many things we adults could learn if we would pay close attention to what the children say.

I was rather saddened though for it is the last time any of our grandchildren will be six. How fast they grow up.

Chatting with Irene

by IRENE MOORE

Next year there will only be four under teenage status or adults. One sure feels old when that happens!

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sears have their grandson Scott Ewing of Toronto visiting with them this week.

Hold Saturday July 18 open to visit the A.C.W. events at St. Paul's parish hall. Everything starts at 10 a.m. except the luncheon and it starts at 11:30 a.m. There will be home baking, bazaar articles, lawn sale and the Thrift Shop will also be open upstairs.

Marg Frise of Richmond Hill visited with the Bob Emmersons and other friends last week.

Did you know the useful and the beautiful are never separated!

Mrs. Paul Cockburn of Woodville visited with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson last Friday.

There is to be a puppet show at the fire hall on Thursday, July 23 at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Jean Welch of Florida is spending several weeks with Mrs. Edith Welch.

With dressings for salads becoming so expensive, how about trying some new home-made ones? This is good "Honey French Dressing". 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. dry mustard; ⅓ cup cider vinegar; 2 tbsp. honey; 1 cup salad oil. In a small bowl, mix salt, pepper and dry mustard, stir in vinegar and honey. Slowly add the salad oil while beating with a rotary beater or electric mixer. Makes about 1⅓ cups. Note - instead of dry mustard, 2 tsp. prepared mustard may be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dawkins of Rexdale spent Saturday with Mrs. Ben Harrison.

The ladies guild of St. Stephen's Church, Boskung, are holding their annual tea, bake sale and bazaar at Club 35 on Wednesday, July 29.

The best cure for sadness is a spoonful of gladness.

The Bill Andersons from New Brunswick are visiting with Mrs. Nell Anderson for several weeks.

The humidity must be getting to me. I find it hard to breathe. I do not mind heat in summer for every day it seems I have a steam bath. Oh how I wish we still had some around. It might be a good business for someone to start up.

Remember Rotary Carnival is coming up the end of July.

Of all the pleasures life can bring; friendship is the sweetest thing.

The Minden and Lindsay branches of the Red Cross are combining to have a bazaar on the bank corner in Minden on August 1. There will be all types of craft and bazaar items.

I can't get to a lake so I think I'll float in the tub. It is safer anyway.

Adios and take care now.

Wilberforce festival set

finished by now. We are hoping to make this the best parade ever with extra bands, the Carlsberg horses and more floats. Centennial year is the theme to be stressed. If you have no float, dress up and join in the fun.

Don't forget the pancake breakfast on Sunday morning when the firemen dish up their delicious specialty of pancakes, sausages and maple syrup. Later on you can watch a ladies softball game in the ball park or watch the gymkhana Rocky Hills Riding Club when they put their splendid riding horses through their paces, riding and jumping their well-trained mounts.

The centennial museum is drawing many visitors who are very pleased with the lay-out of this attraction. The Monmouth book is selling very well and tickets on the lovely, large centennial quilt are in great demand. You will notice the fine centennial signs in Tory Hill. These were the work of Leslie Broad who has done a splendid printing job.

There are a number of visitors in the area at this time. One of the interesting guests is at present with the G.W. Martin Company. He is Tapani (pronounced Tap-one) Pekkala from Finland. His parents own a sawmill in Finland and he is interested in seeing how our Canadian sawmills compare with those at home. He plans to be here until July 24. Then he will be meeting his wife in Montreal and they will have two weeks of travel to see more of Canada before returning home.

pounds before the sled became too heavy. Glen Parks had the top team and was named top teamster again. Bob Reid, of Foxboro, placed second and Larry Greer, of Norland, was third.

Then the heavy horses came into the ring with five teams vying for the title. When the dust had settled, the best pull was 9,550 pounds. Dennis Stewart's team, from Oakwood, gained first place and Stewart was named the best teamster. LeRoy Nesbitt from Minden, finished second and George McLean was third with his team from Little Britain.

The light horse competition saw the best team pull the same weight as the heavy horses; 9,550 pounds.

John Lawrenson of Havelock made the best pull with his horses. Merv MacDonald, from Evanville came second and was awarded the best teamster award. Doug Coad from Lindsay won third position.

The ladies then stepped into the ring with six horses competing in the draw. Joan McLean of Little Britain drew 5,350 with her horses and she was given the best teamstress award; Peggy Plumtree from Lindsay, was second and Jean Batty of Coboconk finished third.

The firefighters also held their $1,000 draw on Saturday with L. McRae of Fenelon Falls winning the prize money.

It's not work to walk.

the fellowship.

A happy cottager on Contau Lake entered Barr's store last week to thank Ron for selling her a lucky Wintario ticket which was a $25,000 winner. It is thrilling when some winners are sold locally.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McQuillan with two sons, Andrew and Jarrod, spent the week-end with Paul's grandmother, Mrs. Claribel Sheehan.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dovell with Sandra, Dale and daughter, Michelle, travelled to Niagara Falls last week-end to Glenview Trailer Park. This was the week-end when the Queen Mother was also there. They report a beautiful spot but huge crowds.

Mrs. Louis Mintz is holidaying with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Hanthorn left for northern Alberta to visit their son, Chris, and his wife. The trip promises some excitement and togetherness since the couple were travelling on a motorcycle.

A group met at Graham's Restaurant for dinner last Friday. The occasion was to honour Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacKay of London, formerly of Haliburton, who were spending a week in this area and who will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary later this summer. They were presented with an engraved anniversary plaque. In reply they spoke feelingly of their treasured friendships here. Most of the group spend their winter months in Sterling Mobile Home Park, Lakeland, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Monaghan, of Toronto, with their children, Craig and Connie, are holidaying on Pine Lake.

A baby shower with Mrs. Dale Dovell as honoured guest was held in the Pentecostal Church Monday night. Many attractive and useful gifts were received for which Sandra thanked the donors sincerely. A pleasant evening with a bountiful lunch was enjoyed.

The Glamorgan Recreation Committee are again sponsoring bingo games during the summer months. The first game of the season will be held Tuesday, July 21 in the new community centre. This may be the first event held there. Your patronage would be appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Scott of Lindsay, their daughter, Karen and her husband, Bill with their two daughters and young son, Michael, spent last week at their home on Pine Lake. Roseline reports that her brother, John Hunter of Chatham, is making favourable progress following his heart attack.

The community centre is almost completed. The exterior is receiving its second coat of Olympic stain; the prefinished textured parquet floor is laid; sidewalks are finished and the sodding around the building is well on its way. It is looking quite attractive. Much volunteer help has been given, especially in the painting of the interior, even involving some summer visitors. This work has been greatly appreciated and shows the spirit of cooperation which we hope will continue. With such a beautiful building, we trust that the needs in our community of young and old alike will be met and that a spirit of pride and unselfishness will prevail and bind us altogether in dedicated service.

I expect to accompany my family on a two-week motor trip to Nova Scotia to visit my grandson and his wife at Shubenacadie. For this reason I won't be writing my column for the next two or three weeks.

- Intended for last week -

Glamorgan Senior Citizens Club met last Wednesday evening in the fire hall. Twenty-five members were present for this Dominion Day meeting. After singing "O Canada" and asking the blessing, all sat down to a luncheon of sandwiches, cake and beverage. Following a business period and a two-minute silence in memory of the heroic Terry Fox, Gordon Barr told of his visit to the newly-opened museum at Wilberforce and expressed the wish that we in Glamorgan might consider starting our own museum. He then read a fitting poem entitled "Canada". After the president, Ivan Hunter, called for adjournment, groups were formed to chat or play cards. We are happy that most of our members who were south for the winter have now returned to meet with us.

Friends of Mr. Fred Simmons of Irondale will be sorry to know that he is in hospital at Lindsay, following a heart attack. We hope for a full recovery soon.

Leaders at Day Camp, which started July 6 are: Melanie Dewey, Cammy Hillis and Marilyn Riel. The camp is held at the school. These girls are capable leaders and those attending should enjoy the three weeks there.

Miss Cammy Hillis is conducting a historical research of Glamorgan Township. She is using a tape recorder and will be arranging interviews. When compiled her records will prove interesting and valuable. We trust everyone will cooperate with Cammy in this project.

On Monday, July 6, Red Cross swimming lessons started at Aldridge Hunter's beach under the experienced and able instruction of Mrs. Darlene Hunter. Registration was held July 6 and the lessons continue from then till July 24. This has been a worthwhile programme and it is good that it will continue this year.

The Township of Glamorgan Parks and Recreation Committee present Gooderham Horseshoe Days at the Glamorgan Community Centre, July 31, August 1 and 2. At 6 p.m. on Friday, July 31 the concessions will be open and pony rides available. At 8 p.m. a dance with D.J. will feature disco and rock dances. On Saturday at 12 noon the horseshoe tournament will start. There will also be a bake and craft sale, a rummage sale, a talent contest and men's baseball game. At 8 p.m. a dance with live music supplied by Harvey and the Harvesters will be held. On Sunday, July 2 at 12 noon the horseshoe tournament will continue till its completion, as well as the popular tug-of-war and the men's baseball game. The feature event will be the Giant Demolition Derby starting at 12 noon. So fun for all is promised.

Glamorgan Senior Citizens Club will hold draws at Gooderham Horseshoe Days. One is for a handcrafted quilt, "Virginia Reel", beautifully made and donated by Marjorie Madill. Ken Bell did two oil paintings of local scenes, one of Stormy Lake in the autumn and the other, a winter scene. Hazel Bell, with some help from club members, prepared a basket of groceries and sundries for the raffle also. Proceeds will be used for the community centre project.

A baby shower was held Friday evening in the Pentecostal Church for Mrs. Marie Vardy (nee Madill). Many pretty and useful gifts were received for which Marie was very appreciative.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Leveck, with their daughter, Emily, of Port Perry were visitors in Gooderham last week. While here, they, along with Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacDuff, attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McColl at Eagle Lake.

Miss Tammy Dewey will be working during the summer months in connection with the tour train from the new sky slider in Haliburton. This new project sounds exciting.

The garage sale held last Saturday at the Orange Hall was tremendously successful netting over $500. This is earmarked for piano for the new community centre. Sincere thanks go out to the donors, those who patronized, and especially to Rev. and Mrs. Sauve and their helpers who worked hard to make this venture such an unqualified success.

Mrs. Ruby Maxwell visited at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Maxwell, in Minden. A delightful event was the celebration of her 80th birthday with a supper at the cottage in Miner's Bay of her granddaughter, Dianne Percy and her husband, John. Continued health and happiness in the years ahead, Ruby.

Murray Pickens, with his wife, Pat, and two daughters flew from B.C. to visit his mother, Mrs. Mae Pickens, and other members of his family. They, with Mrs. Pickens, Vaneita, Mr. and Mrs. Dallyn Pickens, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kendall, motored to Timmins to attend the wedding of a grandchild of Mrs. Pickens and also the christening of her great grandchild.

Mr. Paul Madill of Clinton is staying with his grandmother, Mrs. Violet Billings, since he has secured summer employment with the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hadley left to visit members of their family in Bobcaygeon. While there Iva suddenly became ill and much to her surprise, ended up in Ross Memorial Hospital undergoing surgery for removal of gallstones. We hope to see you home soon, Iva, enjoying good health again.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mintz left for Thunder Bay where they will attend the wedding of their granddaughter, Jackie Simmons.

Irving White and his wife Lorraine from Gladwyn, Michigan, their son Kenneth and his wife Mona with their children, Robert and Michael of Freeland, Michigan, visited Gooderham to see their long-lost relatives. They camped at "Winder Wheel Trailer Sites" park within 50 feet of the site where Irving was born in 1909. He is a direct descendant of George and Catharine White who were early settlers and are buried in the Pioneer Cemetery behind the Orange Hall. On Sunday a gathering was held at the campsite.

Galway/Cavendish organizing festival

to see it all again. There were 32 riders on the bus and a very good and friendly driver, one Joe Gilogly of Fenelon Falls.

Don't forget the Galway-Cavendish Summer Festival to be held Saturday, August 8 in the Kinmount Fairgrounds. There will be a giant auction sale, all kinds of games and lucky draws, snack bar, rides, bake table, white elephant table, antiques and much more. To top things off, a dance will be held from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. under the authority of special occasion permits with admission $4, in the fairgrounds arena with music by Ron McCabe. There will be a buffet lunch around midnight. Why not get a group of your friends together and join in the fun? The auction sale begins at 10 a.m. in the fairgrounds arena and all proceeds go to the "New Building Fund".

Sympathy to family and friends of Ernie Aldon who passed away early Saturday, July 11.

Week-end visitors at the home of Ken and Joan Hyams were: Jack and Isa Nelson of Toronto and Gooderham.

Possibly a couple of hundred people attended the cemetery memorial service held jointly in the Protestant and Catholic cemeteries in Kinmount, Sunday afternoon July 12. Father Brooks, Father Hart and Rev. Crawford, took the service together, which is as it should be. Flowers were placed at the graves, old acquaintances were renewed and most seem in agreeance that it's a good old custom that should be carried on.

I'm told that Father Brooks started this trend back in 1978 and that's a plus for you Father. It was a lovely service. Refreshments were served at St. Patrick's Hall following the service and thanks go out to all the church and Legion ladies. Thank you also, to Ron Newman who keeps the Kinmount cemetery and to George Brown who looks after St. Patrick's Cemetery. You boys had the grounds looking very nice. We mustn't forget, while we're handing out "thank you's", all the folks who have donated towards the upkeep of the cemeteries.

Bill and I enjoyed a phone visit with his sister, May Campbell, in Miami, Florida on Sunday, July 12.

Welcome again to Karen, Waye and Leonard, some of our yearly summer visitors from Michigan, U.S.A.

The Galway men's softball team defeated the Gooderham men at Gooderham, Sunday, July 12, in a score of 19 to 12.

There will be a special fair booth meeting of the A.C.W. to be held at St. James Hall, July 27 at 8 p.m. and the next regular meeting will be held Wednesday, August 5, 8 p.m.

See you at our salad supper July 18 at Kinmount Community Centre from 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. Adults $4.50, students, $2.75 and pre-schoolers, free. You couldn't eat this good or this cheap at home these days. Come and spend a friendly time with friendly people.

Give me a call at 488-2399 and let us all share your news.

not Canadian literature. Our impression is that there is much pressure to keep vulgarity at its present level or more as being more realistic in the average work place. The future will be interesting.

Wednesday morning we were bused to the new Head Lake Park to browse and enjoy the coolness of the wind off the lake. We were nicely accommodated, getting as many additional picnic tables as our numbers warranted, and it was pleasantly cool. Drag River after it crosses Maple has a liesurely meandering course to empty into Head Lake that embraces the village as if it were a huge hand. The gang did not seem inclined to do more than sit at the picnic tables, enjoy the cool breeze, have a sandwich salad dinner then return home. It does not seem like much, but even an outing like this especially those in wheel chairs is a great boon to nursing home residents.

It is quite some time since we last deplored the defoliation of the Ontario Hydro right-of-ways by poison that no ones knows its full scope as such beyond defoliation, say its effect on wildlife, or birds, or bees or even if it as a poison does not be a linkage in acid rain. We have before suggested the remedy, that of gradually opening these corridors of power to grazing by sheep or goats. There are undoubtedly many Ontario unemployed that would be overjoyed by the prospects of having some of these critters to care for, which besides the hum-drum of supervision, is the shearing, the sheep dipping, the winter feeding and bedding, etc. Assuming these tracts to be 100 meters wide then lease two kilometers, providing some 100 hectares of graze. It is presumed that Ontario Hydro could install sheep or goat security fence on both sides and each ends and even divide these 100 hectare plots into 10 sub plots for rotating the pasture. These people could if they have time to keep bees, or poultry as a supplement. Just think if you could get a number of such projects going you would be encouraged to expand.

The government of Canada has now by unanimous vote established a new yardstick of Canadian income and which Canadian labour will continually strive for. Our inconvenience now brought about by the mail strike will become a normal and accepted mode in our society. Nothing that has gone up will ever come down which includes inflation, unemployment, interest rates, salaries and wages, etc.

The Rev. Rick Brewster of the Allsaw Pentecostal Church, his pianist Marjorie Rennick and Christian friends Elsie McPhail, Melissa Emmerson and Ronnie McPhail conducted our devotion period Friday morning. The theme was taken from Psalm 27 in which the psalmist was unceasingly in praise of God for what he has done.

Both movies of Friday afternoon were tourism movies of British Columbia and of Cape Breton Island where the sheep, fishing and farming industries prevail. The sheep and lambs are cute.

We have two new volunteer workers, sisters, Signe and Hiedi Tashlin, that are helping Ivy and in a week or two will take on Ivy's work while she takes her holiday. Let's all welcome the change.

The winner of that much talked about Happy Gang quilt raffle that the ladies made and which was drawn July 10 was Rose Connaughan.

32. IN MEMORIAM

HORSLEY - In loving memory of a dear grandson, Jason Fredrick Allan, who passed away July 20, 1979.

A million times I've needed you
A million times I've cried.
If love could have saved you dear,
You never would have died.
Things we feel most deeply
Are the hardest things to say
My dearest, I loved you
In a very special way.
If I could have one lifetime wish
One dream that could come true
I'd pray to God with all my heart
For yesterday and you.

Sadly missed, Grandpa and Grandma Horsley. 32-P-22

PERRY - In memory of our beloved brother "Bud" - July 19, 1977.

Tis said time heals all sorrow
And helps one to forget
But time so far has only shown
How much we miss you yet.

Lovingly remembered by sisters Marguerite, Kathleen, Evelyn, Joan and their husbands. 32-P-15

GARTSHORE - In loving memory of a dear uncle, Don, who passed away July 20, 1978.

Our hearts still ache with sorrow
And silent tears will flow.
For what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
We think of you in silence
And ever speak your name.
But all we have are memories
And your picture in a frame.

Sadly missed by Jason, Chris, Gary and Sean. 32-P-15

GARTSHORE - In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Don, who passed away July 20, 1978.

At night, the silver stars shine down
On a grave not far from here
Where sleeps the one we can't forget
And always loved so dear.
As angels keep watch up there
Please, God, just let him know
That we down here do not forget
We love and miss him so.

Sadly and deeply missed by Mom and Dad, Verne and Marlin, Craig and Margaret, Gary and Pat. 32-P-15

Displaying child's art could restrict style

cation classic titled Your Child and His Art (1954), author Viktor Lowenfeld expressed the disadvantages of displaying children's art. Lowenfeld felt that displaying only one work indicates a preference of the adult. The child may see this as a goal and restrict all style to the same theme, fearing that he can't do it again. For this reason Lowenfeld suggests that if you must display a child's art, display all of his creations rather than picking and choosing. I would suggest that discussing the process of creating the picture with the child is the most important factor.

If a young child is focusing on the process rather than the end product he will not be easily influenced to change that focus. Displaying a child's art also shows approval of the process he went through, it reminds him of a rich conversation he had with his parent while drawing and it pays tribute to his persistence, concentration and creativity. Perhaps let the child choose the picture he prefers to exhibit rather than hanging all of his creations.

This is a weekly column on child development provided by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit's Infant Stimulation Programme. Your comments and questions regarding issues in child development are invited. During the current mail strike, please phone: Health Unit, 457-1391.

Haliburton now decorated with hanging flower pots

Hanging flower pots are being installed on Haliburton's main street as part of an ongoing beautification effort.

Dysart et al council recently agreed to purchase 50 of the pots, which are attached to poles by brackets. When the pots are taken down later in the year, the brackets will be used to hold decorative lighting.

The pots have been hung on Bell Canada poles on the south side of the street, and will be attached to Ontario Hydro poles on the north side of the street once Hydro approval has been received.

Brackets are set 14 feet above the ground to discourage vandalism and to conform with traffic regulations.
